

Backend

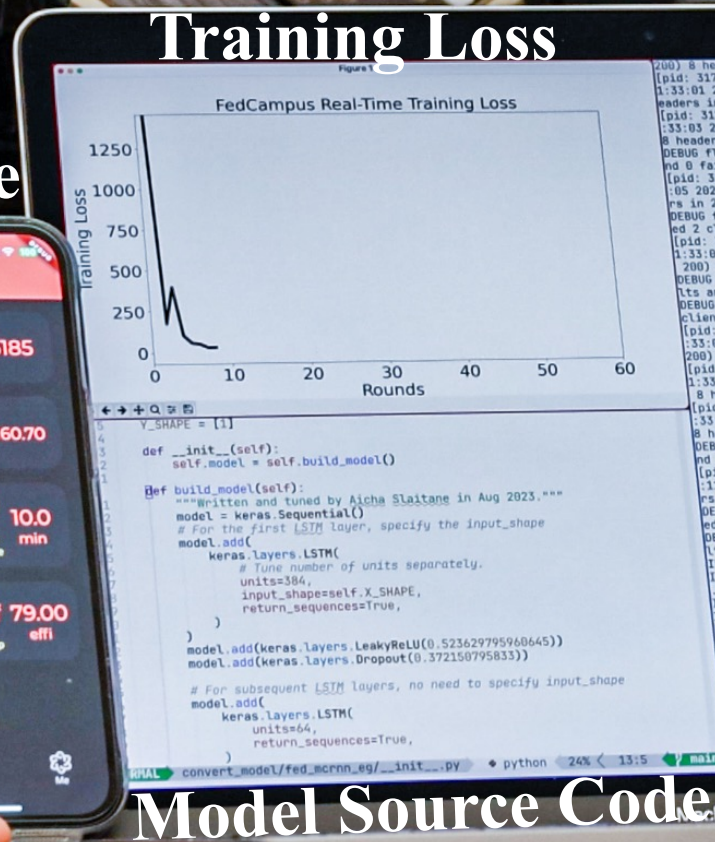

Training Loss

Training Logs

Android Device

iOS Device

Model Source Code

The image shows a laptop screen displaying 'Training Logs'. The logs consist of multiple lines of text providing detailed information about the training process, including timestamps, server IP addresses, and various metrics. The logs are organized into sections, with some lines indicating the start of new training rounds or the completion of specific tasks.

Smartwatch